Publisher Announces Launch of New Web-based Storefront for Their Readers, Authors and Social Media Networks Worldwide

DFW, Texas — Digi-Tall Media, Entry Way Publishing and Poetry Highway announce its launch of their new web-based storefront into the world of writers, readers, editors and graphic artists all over the globe. Store-e-books.com found on the web at <http://www.store-e-books.com> is already doing business and enjoying all of its state-of-the art perks. Purchasing of books and e-books has been made user-friendly, as well as with the safety needed by customers today.

Texas-based, VicToria Freudiger, Publisher, has plans to expand their new storefront by partnering with other publishers. At this time, and for the past ten years, Digi-Tall Media has partnered with its preferred publisher, Entry Way Publishing. However, as of September 21, 2011 they will be joined by a new publisher, which will be announced later this week.

With the current upsurge of the e-book industry there are more chances than ever for a solid publisher to partner with others, as sharing is a major conduit in the world of media today.

“As a small business owner/operator of more than twenty years, I can appreciate the many challenges faced by the business community during these difficult financial times. It is this fact that encourages me most about sharing our world with other business owners. Left alone, we are a smaller piece of the Internet Real Estate – working with others who are like-minded and goal-oriented will provide everyone a chance to build upon their worlds. Our goal for 2011 and 2012 is to add at the very least, six new publishers, which we are certain will provide even more readers for each publisher becoming a part of this new storefront.”

Digi-Tall Media plans to continue sharing their customer’s books and e-books with as many retailers and publishers as possible. A very special announcement will be made then – more news about a very special interactive e-book application, which is currently being engineered/designed just for them. At this time, Digi-Tall Media has over sixty published titles and many of these are in the ever-popular e-book format (many are interactive).

If you are a publisher and/or e-book publisher and want to discuss becoming an integral part of <http://www.store-e-books.com>, contact VicToria Freudiger at 972-517-6513 (info@digi-tall-media.com). Everyone is encouraged to signup as a new member (fee-free) and receive a $5 purchase power coupon to start their fun experience at Story-e-Books.com.
